Excerpt: . farmers, lessees, or coproprietors of agricultural estates who do not reside in the district. The profits accruing from pensions, interest on capitals, salaries, or state revenues shall be imputed to their possessors in the town where they reside. Persons who have been declared paupers, those taken care of in charitable institutions, and members of the army and navy are exempted from the assessment.2 2. In order to fix the income of each taxpayer, the following bases shall be observed: First. On owners of city property there shall be assessed as taxable income the amount of the rents they receive or may hereafter receive for this purpose, taking into consideration the nature and conditions of the estates, if they are occupied by them personally or by others who do not pay rent. Second. Owners who cultivate agricultural estates, or in the proper case the...
